

GREENPOWER F24/F24+ TECHNICAL BULLETIN - JULY 2018

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR F24/F24+ COMPETITORS

Following a mid-season review of event incident reports and comments from event staff we would like to remind all teams of the need to observe the following regulation:

T13.3. Driver to pit audio communication systems must be hands free.

In addition to the above any device carried in the car must be securely attached to the car and must not be carried in the driver's lap or clipped to the harness. Operation of any such device must not require the driver to remove hand(s) from the steering.

Pit exit marshals will be reminded of this requirement and any infringements may lead penalties including disqualification.

This bulletin has been issued in the interests of driver safety.

Should you require further help or advice regarding this matter please contact:

Following an incident at the race at Rockingham yesterday we would like to remind all participants that driving any car is an activity that requires your full concentration and any need to communicate with your other team members must be done so using hands free systems allowing you to retain full control of our car. This matter is covered in our race regulations in T13.3 and any contravention will result in immediate disqualification.
